Part 1: Type of Compliance Certification

Initial Certification: The first time brand styles are submitted for compliance certification.

Recertification: Done every three years and there are no changes from the initial certification.

Reformulation: A recertification will be considered a reformulation if there have been changes from the initial certification to any of these characteristics:

- 1) Brand or trade name on the package.
- 2) Brand style, as defined in G.S. 58-92-10 (1a).
- 3) Length in millimeters.
- 4) Circumference in millimeters.
- 5) Flavor, such as menthol or chocolate, if applicable.
- 6) Filter or non-filter.
- 7) Package description, such as soft pack or box.

Some brand styles in a package may have had changes in some of these characteristics while others may not have. Please submit those with changes together as a reformulation package and those with no changes together as a recertification package. Include one check/money order per package. A Reformulation will result in a change to the brand style number assigned during the initial certification.

Also, retesting is not required in order to recertify unless one of the above characteristics have changed. However, the most current lab report must be uploaded with your online submission.
